- (b) The employer may deny the employee any on-the-job contact with children until the charge is resolved.
- (c) The employer may detail or reassign the employee to other duties that do not involve contact with children.
- (d) The employer may place the employee on administrative leave until the court has disposed of the charge.

§ 63.21 Are there other factors that may disqualify an applicant, volunteer or employee from placement in a position which involves regular contact with or control over Indian children?

Yes.

- (a) An applicant, volunteer, or employee may be disqualified from consideration or continuing employment if it is found that:
- (1) The individual's misconduct or negligence interfered with or affected a current or prior employer's performance of duties and responsibilities.
- (2) The individual's criminal or dishonest conduct affected the individual's performance or the performance of others.
- (3) The individual made an intentional false statement, deception or fraud on an examination or in obtaining employment.
- (4) The individual has refused to furnish testimony or cooperate with an investigation.
- (5) The individual's alcohol or substance abuse is of a nature and duration that suggests the individual could not perform the duties of the position or would directly threaten the property or safety of others.
- (6) The individual has illegally used narcotics, drugs, or other controlled substances without evidence of substantial rehabilitation.
- (7) The individual knowingly and willfully engaged in an act or activities designed to disrupt government programs.
- (b) An individual must be disqualified for Federal employment if any statutory or regulatory provision would prevent his/her lawful employment.

§63.22 Can an employer certify an individual with a prior conviction or substantiated misconduct as suitable for employment?

- (a) The Bureau of Indian Affairs must use Federal adjudicative standards which allow the BIA to certify that an individual is suitable for employment in a position that does not involve regular contact with or control over Indian children. The adjudicating officer must determine that the individual's prior conduct will not interfere with the performance of duties and will not create a potential for risk to the safety and well-being of Indian children.
- (b) Indian tribes and tribal organizations must identify those positions which permit contact with or control over Indian children and establish standards to determine suitability for employment. Those standards should then be used to determine whether an individual is suitable for employment in a position that permits contact with or control over Indian children. If not, the individual may only be placed in a position that does not permit contact with or control over Indian children.

§63.23 What rights does an applicant, volunteer or employee have during this process?

- (a) The applicant, volunteer, or employee must be provided an opportunity to explain, deny, or refute unfavorable and incorrect information gathered in an investigation, before the adjudication is final. The applicant, volunteer, or employee should receive a written summary of all derogatory information and be informed of the process for explaining, denying, or refuting unfavorable information.
- (b) Employers and adjudicating officials must not release the actual background investigative report to an applicant, volunteer, or employee. However, they may issue a written summary of the derogatory information.
- (c) The applicant, volunteer, or employee who is the subject of a background investigation may obtain a copy of the reports from the originating (Federal, state, or other tribal) agency and challenge the accuracy and completeness of any information maintained by that agency.
